RANDOM NOTES AND COMMENTS

THE ELUSIVE TYPO

In the process of publishing anything the responsible authorities quickly become familiar with the common, or garden variety, of typographical error — typo for short. These menaces creep in right under one's nose even though the nose in question is on the alert to catch them. Sometimes they can be traced to the "copy" submitted to the printer and sometimes they are the invention of the experts who preside over the linotype machines. A classic and simple example of the latter variety is often found in descriptions of medieval coins — "Obv. King seated on thorn". There were two more original specimens encountered during the preparation of this catalogue that could only have resulted from the cooperative effort of all parties concerned. Both have a certain numismatic interest.

The first was not complicated. A Ruble of the Empress Anna emerged as having, "three pears on her bosom". While the correction was obvious the Editor was tempted to go back to the basic source to see what had been written down, and found that the coin in question was the variety that shows Her Imperial Majesty with, "three pears on her bosom". This had possibilities the type setter overlooked. Of the two alternatives he opted for "bosom". Regrettably he was right but he certainly missed a great opportunity. In the interests of accuracy the Editor was forced to change the "pears" to "pearls".

Those who received the catalogue for our Sale in May of last year will remember the German author, "Erster Band", found in a listing of numismatic books being offered by a distinguished New York auction house. This time we discovered a hitherto unknown 19th century medalist with the interesting name of "Avern Hisheddl". Instinct told us that we'd better find out more about the gentleman. Somehow he didn't sound familiar enough to be allowed into print without further verification. By the time the matter sorted itself out the correctly punctuated description of the object he had designed was

"Earl of Plymouth, 1789-1833. Bronze Medal by Avern.
His head l. Rv. Obelisk."

PEOPLE AND COINS

Languages, foreign and otherwise, frequently trip up our "professional" colleagues. For example an interesting piece was recently brought to our attention. This rarity was French and described as, "1914 10c, Y. 73, Nickel Double Thick Pattern Petit-four RRRR BU- 300.00". Now it is an old established tradition in the Paris mint to strike specimens twice as thick as the regular issues. These are called "pièforts". A "petit four" is a typical French type of confectionary in the form of a small cake covered with sugar icing and generally served at afternoon tea when the hostess wishes to be particularly elegant. It is safe to say that none have ever been made by the Paris mint.

The Curator and the Coin Dealer

Not too long ago a museum Curator received an excited phone call from a Dealer who had encountered that fabulous rarity, the Brasher Doubloon. The conversation went something like this:

Dealer: We went up to New Hampshire the other day. A woman had found a Brasher doubloon, what seemed like the real thing.

Curator: You were disappointed?

D: Well, it turned out to be a fake — or, at least, not genuine. But it was a good job, . . . an old cast, . . . very deceptive.

C: How was the gold? Was the weight correct?

D: Oh, it wasn't gold. It was copper.

C: There are many replicas of the Brasher Doubloon around. I see them frequently here.

D: But this was a really good cast . . . someone did fine work on the dies . . .

There are a number of comments about this exchange we could make but will leave them to our readers.

A Matter of Condition

Everyone knows that "condition" is a vexed question that plagues all who are interested in coins. We still remember the occasion some years ago when the individual who can best be described as a coin-dabbler came to the Galleries with an 1823 "proof" 2 Pound piece of George IV to sell. Without question it was the finest specimen we have ever seen, before or since. There was hardly a scratch or nick to be found with a high powered glass. Nevertheless it was certainly not a proof, and we said so. Looking like he'd just taken a healthy drink of lemonade without any saccharin in it, the would-be vendor snarled, "That's the trouble with you guys. When you sell it's a proof. When you buy it's Unc." Apart from the philosophy, the elementary fact was that the man actually believed that any shiny uncirculated coin was a proof. Like so many others he was under the impression that the word "proof" indicated a condition rather than a state of being.

There is more excuse for an anonymous lady who produced an 1833 Greek 5 Drachma piece one afternoon in a state of preservation that at best can be called Good to Very Good. Very brightly she said, "Of course the coin is Uncirculated. My poor husband, since passed away, didn't touch it for fifty years." After pointing out the advanced state of smoothness exhibited by the coin, we suggested that it might have seen a good deal of service before being acquired by the late lamented. After considering this for a moment she smiled and gave the Editor the surprise of his life by saying "Oh! Now I understand". May the blessing of the Almighty descend upon her and comfort her remaining years.

About Collector's Items

Not long ago we received the following interesting letter from China:

"We are the producer and having in stock of the Celebration coin of which, the full particulars are as follows;

Title: Celebration Coin in respect of Mr. Nixon, the President of the United States visiting the People's Republic of China.

Coin's Value: Nil

Ingredient: Brass with silver coat

Cost: US $1.00 each, less 25% for over 10,000 pieces.

Provided that will meet with your best choice you are requested to favour us with L/C and if it is a trifle order, remittance of cash will be thru . . ." and financial details of how to remit the money for what the writer trusted would be an order were then given. We disappointed him. As a matter of principal we never do business with those who use "thru," particularly when the value of the pieces offered is frankly given as "Nil".

The last word on this and associated matters was probably spoken by TIFFANY & CO. friendly neighbors of ours a block east on 57th Street. The firm is not famous for dealing in coins, it might be pointed out. On November 17, 1972, TIFFANY & CO. placed an advertisement in the New York Times that conveyed a message. It is reproduced below for the benefit and edification of all true coin collectors.

'Limited Editions'

This season seems to be replete with offers of so-called collector's items issued in "Limited Editions", often represented as Great Art, but too often of questionable artistic merit. Some of them are huckstered with sophisticated 20th Century versions of the snake-oil techniques of the 19th Century calculated to appeal to the greed of the customer with implied promises of increased future value, as well as with attempts to scare the customer into a quick purchase or else this "priceless golden opportunity" will be gone forever.

So, to top all Limited Editions once and for all, we offer the celebrated 128 carat Tiffany Diamond, the largest and finest Canary Diamond in the world, in a Limited Edition of "one" for the sum of $5,000.000. What's more, in our judgment, past history and everything else considered, it will easily be worth $10,000,000 one hundred years from now.

Mail orders will not be accepted if postmarked after November 17, 1972. First come, first served, of course."
